

THOMAS AQUINAS QUOTES

- There is nothing on this earth more to be prized than true friendship.
- Friendship is the source of the greatest pleasures, and without friends even the most agreeable pursuits become tedious.
- If the highest aim of a captain were to preserve his ship, he would keep it in port forever.
- We can't have full knowledge all at once. We must start by believing; then afterwards we may be led on to master the evidence for ourselves.
- The things that we love tell us what we are.
- Love takes up where knowledge leaves off.
- Faith has to do with things that are not seen and hope with things that are not at hand.
- Man should not consider his material possession his own, but as common to all, so as to share them without hesitation when others are in need.
- Perfection of moral virtue does not wholly take away the passions, but regulates them.